Three Years of Progress

(Contributed.)

A resident of three years standing cannot fail to be impressed with the progress that the village of Champion has made during that time.

The Fall of 1927 saw the Calgary Power Company's line completed and the main street converted into a miniature 8th Avenue by night after the darkness of many years; it was also gravelled that year at considerable expense, and miring up to the hubs is now a thing of the past.

An electric pump was soon after installed at the fire hall, and a cell was also built in.

The Pool elevator was built that year and electrically equipped, most of the others soon following suit.

1928 was a year of great building activity—both the new Community Hall and Public School having been started that year and both formally opened the following year. The conversion of the old high school into an up to date teaching place is also worthy of mention. The Pioneer elevator was also built that year, and an annex to the Home Grain Company's elevator in 1929.

The advent of the Bay-Matland Oil Drilling Co., which started operations six miles northwest of town, caused no little excitement and anticipation for about a year.

Chautauque was held in the Community Hall for the first time, continuing there the next.

The moving in from Fath's hill of the Roman Catholic church was quite an undertaking and a good example of community work.

Mention should be made of the B.P. O.E. Lodge formed in 1927. It was largely due to their efforts that the Community Hall was started, and their first Christmas tree given to all the boys and girls in the district from a monster tree planted on Main street, will long be remembered, and was repeated the next year in the Community Hall. The tree trunk is to be replaced in the near future by an electric standard clock, made possible by enterprising citizens, another mark of progress.

Two more oil stations have sprung up during this period—Annie Oile and Petroleum Products Ltd., the latter's stock being subscribed for locally. An up-to-date bakery and confectionery fills a long felt want.

Local Barrister

Successful at Court

Mr. Joseph Hicks was a recent business visitor to Matland and Lethbridge. In the business at hand he succeeded in obtaining his four cases by having the cases dismissed out of court with costs to the defendants in each. The four cases arose out of machinery notes and in each case the machinery was defective and the defendant refused to pay. After the close of the pleadings the plaintiff's solicitors apparently saw that they were caught and did not go on with the case according to the rules of the court. Mr. Hicks then made a motion to strike out in three and in one the claim did not show a good ground of action. In the latter the judge reserved his decision for two weeks and then dismissed the action out of court with costs.

The above shows that by a little attention by a person who knows what to do many judgment debts could be justly avoided in all of the above it paid the farmer to employ the solicitor.

Mr. and Mrs. B.N. Woodhull returned from Hartney, Manitoba on Tuesday where they attended the funeral of the former's father. They were accompanied by Miss M. L. Woodhull and Mrs. S. H. Forest, sisters of Mr. Woodhull.

Conditions may be far from the wheat grower's liking here but in parts of the country where they have had two successive crop failures in addition to the very low prices there is no comparison which would not leave the impression that here we are reveling in prosperity.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Groves, (born on Monday Oct. 20th, died on Thursday morning, Oct. 23, the funeral taking place to the Catholic cemetery on Fri, Oct. 24. The parents have the sympathy of the community.

Lady Curlers

To Organize

The lady curlers are holding a meeting on Tuesday night Oct. 28, in Moffatt's hardware, at 8.30. While this is the first time organization has been undertaken at the beginning of the season there has always been a large number of curling enthusiasts of the feminine sex here, and this year promises to see them out in full strength.

Rummage Sale

November 1st

A rummage sale will be held in the old drug store on Saturday Nov. 1st under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Ladies are requested to leave their contributions with Mrs. Alexander as soon as convenient. There is a splendid opportunity to get rid of the things you are tired of. Tea will be served during the afternoon.

Chicken Supper

For Thanksgiving

The annual Thanksgiving chicken supper under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid will be held on Monday evening, November 10th in the Community Hall, when supper will be served from six to eight o'clock. It is quite unnecessary to elaborate on the fact that this is one of the events loved of people, chicken cannot miss without long-lived regrets afterwards.

Correction

With reference to the Champion school sports held recently, the silver cup won by Walborg Ulsten was presented by Farmer's Hardware; and the cup presented by Moffatt's Hardware was won by Philip Bastin, and not by Harry Taylor, as stated in last week's issue.

Obituary

Referring to the death of T. B. Woodhull in his 90th year at Hartney, Man., the Hartney Star says in part:

Born at Kilworth near London, on May 6th, 1841, he received his early education in the schools of that district later taking a course at Albert College, Belleville. In 1862 he married Catherine McLellan, of Delaware, Ont. Following the western urge he came to Manitoba in 1868, purchasing land about ten miles south west of Brandon where he farmed for ten years. In 1893 the Woodhull family located in Hartney and since that time the name has been associated with the town's progress. During the fall of 1893 he was appointed Secretary-Treasurer of the Municipality of Cameron and also secretary-treasurer of the town of Hartney when the village was incorporated. Both these positions he has filled for thirty-seven years in a manner that left no room for criticism. His knowledge of municipal law was widely known; his kindly disposition, coupled with a modest, retiring manner, made him a host of warm friends in public and private life.

A good time is assured at the W. L. Hall on dance in the Community Hall on Wednesday Oct. 29th. Plan to be present.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

After travelling through the Province of Saskatchewan, where every little village and hamlet is reached by the highway, the conclusion is forced that a real injustice has been done in this province by carrying the highway past even small points at a sufficient distance to induce those travelling the highway to go along with out going directly through these places. Not only is it pleasant to see these small centres, adding to the pleasure and variety of a journey, but it is often very convenient to be able to make purchases without driving out of the way to reach such an objective, naturally leaving the highway and encountering doubtful roads. The only reason advanced for the Alberta plan is that heavy traffic passing through the villages and towns would be objectionable. This point has been reached in the United States, but it would be a century before such a condition would be reached here, and congestion of traffic to such an extent could be remedied fifty years from now. Towns and villages directly on the highway show the benefits derived from the contact with the travelling public both in appearance and the utilities available to traveller and tourist, while the places missed by the highway show it plainly by the absence of such convenience and a general air of despondency. It would appear fair to assume that provincial and municipal money would be spent to provide the greatest amount of good to the greatest number of people. Carrying the highways by existing towns and villages, leaving a situation in which their utility as market roads is destroyed by a mile or less of poor road at the end of the trip seems to have been the limit of folly, unless the highway was built for through traffic only and the residents on farms and in towns were beyond consideration in the matter.

The sudden change to frigid weather conditions during the past week and the violent blizzard in other parts of the prairie provinces has no equal in memory of the oldest inhabitant. There have been instances of earlier snowfall but not of temperatures, ranging well below zero at many points, and piling up snow at others to an extent to paralyze traffic on both railroads and highways. In the northern parts of the three provinces it is estimated that 50 per cent of the wheat if still unthreshed. The interference with the best harvest, too, in this province was serious.

UNDER CONTROL OR NO CONTROL?

UNDER CONTROL : with beer being sold by reputable licensed hotels under government supervision.

NO CONTROL : with bootleggers running rampant as in the old prohibition days.

Reasons why you should NOT sign the prohibition petition urging the government to abolish the sale of beer by the glass or bottle, thus doing away with the beer rooms, clubs and canteens.

1. The proposal to disturb the act comes from a small body of people whose social theories have not withstood the test of actual experience.

2. The Trades and Labor Congress are on record as being in favor of the sale of beer-by-the-glass.

3. By virtue of the local option provisions of the act, communities may extinguish a license when a majority of public opinion so expresses itself.

4. No license has been withdrawn as a result of a local option vote either in 1929 or 1930, though licenses attacked were at points where conditions appeared to the prohibitionists, as favorable to a dry result.

5. In a total of 58 local option votes taken since the act came into force only four licenses have been cancelled as a result of votes; and these licenses were in every case, adversely affected by peculiar local influence.

6. Absence of criticism at the last two provincial elections.

7. Hotel accommodation, particularly at country points, has improved as a direct result of the act, to a standard unequalled in any other province.

8. The general endorsement of the act by the travelling public and the willingness of the public generally to assist in enforcing the act by giving information regarding infractions and interdicting those needing protection from their own weakness.

9. Bootlegging and moonshining have been eliminated as remunerative pursuits. This together with strict government control, has placed all intoxicating liquor beyond the reach of minors; fewer cases of intoxication in the police courts, in spite of a considerable increase in population. Leave the police of the province free to perform their natural functions, that of protecting the people, not taking up their time trying to enforce what has proved to be unenforceable legislation. Remember you cannot legislate men's minds, because they will never obey a law they do not respect. This was proven in prohibition days.

10. The operation of the act provides a large public revenue (4 cents of every 10c expended) this has helped to increase the general revenue of the province and prevent increased taxation. Formerly such revenue went to the bootleggers and moonshiners.

11. Official reports commend the act as eminently practical. They contain no important criticism of the act's clauses. Police reports indicate a continuous improvement in the general state of law and order.

12. The real motive prompting the petition is to render the act unworkable by eliminating the retail sale of beer-by the glass or bottle; the ultimate aim being a return to total prohibition.

If the beer rooms and clubs are abolished what does the Prohibition Party suggest to take their place? Is it to be liquor for the wealthy and prohibition for the workers?

Our National Parks

On May 9th of this present year, a Bill to be known as the National Parks Act passed the House of Commons and was shortly afterwards ratified by the Senate and signed by the Governor-General.

This marked the beginning of a new era for the National Parks of Canada. They have now reached that state of importance in the administrative eye which entitles them to a separate Act. Formerly they were simply an afterthought administered under the Dominion Forest Reserve and Parks Act. No longer can they be compared with the house which was built upon the sand, and the new National Parks Act is the house upon which will be built a park system of which Canadians for all time will be justly proud, a system which will endure, a system having the stability of a mountain. No longer will the boundaries and policy of administration fluctuate with the rise and fall of the various political parties in power at Ottawa, because they can never again be made the political policy of any party, but are the policy, property and pride of each and every individual Canadian in this broad Dominion.

By the former Act all matters affecting parks were under the direct control of the Minister of the Interior through the Parks Branch, and an enter-incident could without the consent or even the knowledge of Parliament establish new parks, relinquish all or part of the present parks, sell or lease any water power, timber, mining claim, or other commercial concession in the boundaries of any park.

By the new Act, thirty days' notice of any such matter affecting the parks must be published in the Canada Gazette, and then the matter takes the form of a private bill and must be thoroughly discussed by the people's representatives in Parliament before becoming law. Surely a reasonable way of dealing with park areas which belong not to any individual community or province but to the people of Canada as a nation.

As water is the life of all landscape pictures, so lakes, waterfalls and rivers are often, and generally, the chief attraction in a National Park. Destroy their natural beauty, and the park itself is largely destroyed. Nevertheless water-power companies become impatient upon securing rights to utilize these water powers for hydro-electric purposes. Already a large area has been taken out of Banff National Park, the Spray Lakes area, for hydro development, and now the hydro interests demand the famous Lake Minnewanka district in the same park.

Once embark on a recognized policy of alienating water-powers in our National Parks for commercial purposes and a precedent is established which will be cited by other interests. Our National Parks are rich in forests. With the waters and mountains they constitute the beauty of the parks; without them there would be little or no water. But the lumbering interests look upon them with envious eyes, and if the water-power are to be exploited by the hydro companies, why not the forests by the lumbering interests? So, too, some of the National Park areas are believed to be rich in minerals, but what would become of these parks if unsightly mining camps with their piles of refuse, old derricks, ugly mine buildings and tailings, inseparable from mining camps and towns were allowed to spring up within their boundaries?

But if the door is opened to commercial exploitation in one direction, it will be well-nigh impossible to stop it in other directions. The water-powers, the forests and the minerals within our National Parks undoubtedly have a commercial value, but so, too, have the Parks themselves in their natural beauty. Commercial exploitation of the forests would in a few years lessen and in time destroy their value. Cutting of the trees would also ultimately destroy the beauty of the waterfalls. Mining operations in time would exhaust the minerals. Commercial interests in the National Parks mean a gradual depreciation in value.

But retention of our National Parks in all their natural beauty will add to their commercial value to Canada as magnets which will attract ever increasing numbers of tourists from all parts of the world, while maintaining for Canadians of future generations the delights and benefits of great national playgrounds, places of inspiration, and of health-giving happiness.

It is well, therefore, that the new National Parks Act has become the law of Canada. In this Dominion, as in the United States, we must face the fact that commercialism is the peril of our National Parks system. The thoughtfully declared by Washington Irving to be the American god, is the overriding deity. The struggle is between the lower and the higher, the sordid and the ideal.

Speaking for the then president of the United States at the annual opening of the Yellowstone National Park in 1923, Dr. John Wesley Hill said: "Regardless of all facts and figures, arguments, and threats, any plan however notorious on its face for the commercial exploitation of parks must be rejected. Good projects, had projects, and purposes must be deemed to fail. For it is the established policy of the Government that our national parks must and shall forever be maintained in absolute unimpaired form, not only for the present, but for all time to come. This fixed policy will not be swayed by any influence, financial or otherwise, political or otherwise. If rights are granted to one claimant, others must follow; as a general rule, it would inevitably ruin the entire National Parks system."

Canada can do no better. If any attempt is made, no matter in what guise, to infringe upon the rights of all the people in their National Parks, they should arise in their might and end any such attempt. The power is now in their hands by the virtue of the new National Parks Act.

On Cattle Shipments

Negotiation For Decrease In Transportation Charges On Exports To Britain

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, is in negotiation with the Atlantic shipping companies and the railways in an effort to obtain a decrease in the transportation charges on cattle exported to Great Britain, which will open up this market to large scale shipments from western Canada.

The negotiations have not proceeded far enough to warrant any forecast of results, but the Minister has got to the point where he is advocating an entirely new policy, endeavoring to change the whole basis upon which rates have been imposed in the past.

In regard to the ocean rates, Mr. Weir is endeavoring to have the whole rate basis changed. He wants shipping companies to quote rates by the ton instead of by the head. Such an arrangement would give shippers advantages in shipping stock of various weight. A definite decision in this regard will be reached before long.

The gentleman may or may not have realized this, but at any rate he was stunned by the lengthiness of the title. He made the first remark he could think of. "I-I-I hope they're all well," he ventured, and hung up.

Keep Highway Open In Winter

No. 1 Highway Between Winnipeg and Brandon May Be Open For Winter Travel

No. 1 highway between Winnipeg and Brandon may be kept open all winter for auto traffic it is stated. To combat the heavy snows that are expected to come early in 1929-30 winter months, the department will probably use two large snow plows to keep the highway clear. The view of the road at the western end of the highway here and the other working west from Winnipeg. Should the task of keeping the highways not be overly heavy, there is every probability of the Minnedosa-Brandon-Bellevue route being kept open too.

For some years now there has been an effort to secure snow-fighting units that would work effectively on the highways. The Retail Merchants Association and the Board of Trade co-operated for two winters in a work that kept roads open into Brandon from neighboring districts open. Since that time the department has been approached to establish a more permanent force for winter road maintenance and plans are now shaping in that direction. The importance and the amount of traffic over the Winnipeg-Brandon highway this route will get first attention in the highway scheme for all-year-round traffic.

For Uniform Text Books

Elimination Of Foreign Produced School Text Books Greatly To Be Desired

Reporting intensive activity in the elimination of foreign produced school text books from the schools of the country, the Education Committee of the Toronto Chamber of Commerce expressed the opinion that there is an ever growing tendency to use part of both the education authorities and the Canadian public to favor wherever possible, text books edited and published by Canadian and British authors and houses.

From a special committee formed in Alberta, came the suggestion, that since the individual provinces have complete charge of education, the provincial ministers of education could probably participate in a round table conference for the purpose of reviewing the text books situation in Canada and of seeking as much uniformity as possible.

Sat On Top Of World

Few Canadians Had This Experience During Eclipse Of Moon

Men who literally sat on top of the world for a moment are described by Dr. Willard T. Fisher, of Harvard Observatory in a report just published on the 1927 moon's eclipse.

These men were a far-flung line of fur traders, trappers, missionaries and hunters in Northern Canada, and at the moment of total eclipse their shadows were exactly on top of the round, black shadow of the earth as it slipped over the face of the moon, 240,000 miles distant.

A 100-inch telescope might have shown there the rough outline of the hills around them cast in the upper edge of the shadow on the moon.

Astronomers wanted to know just how much sunlight passed over this top edge of the world horizontally through the earth's surface atmosphere.

To figure this they needed weather, cloud and haze conditions along this rim. George A. Wendt, of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Limited, established the KDKA short wave broadcast to reach the men on the "rim" by radio.

They were advised two months in advance that the astronomers wanted the Radio Society of Canada to reach them. Months after the eclipse Dr. Fisher received the report, and now after long computations, their astronomical value has proved up. They show that clouds shut out light horizontally across this top of the world to a height of 2,000 feet, more than a third of a mile. This cloudy layer was almost as opaque as solid earth, and had few breaks.

Comments Development In Transportation

Visitor To Canada Amazed At Railway Facilities In Dominion Delighted with what he had already seen of Canada and expressing amazement at the developments which have taken place in transportation facilities in the Dominion, Gordon B. Royle of "The Economist" and "The Weekly Courier," of Launceston, Tasmania, left Montreal on the International Limited for the Canadian National Railways, for Toronto, en route to Vancouver to call home.

Radio and telephone connections to and from moving trains were an amazing development to him. Mr. Royle stated, while the speed of "The International Limited," six hours for the 334 miles journey between Montreal and Toronto, was one at which he had never anticipated travelling over such a distance on any Canadian railway.

WHOLE FAMILY HAD DYSENTERY

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint and should be checked at once as its termination often proves fatal. Mrs. H. F. Stewart, Fallstaff, Sask., writes:— "Two years ago we were all very bad with attacks of dysentery. My husband got a bottle of Dr. Foy's Kidney and Bladder Pills and after taking three or four doses was completely relieved. He has never been without a bottle of it in the house."

Trades and Labor Congress Anticipates To Give Their Support

Unqualified support was given to the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in Regina, July 25th to August 6th, 1932, by 300 delegates attending the 46th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at Regina recently. A resolution approving of the exhibition and conference carried unanimously, the delegates declaring their support to be an expression of their desire to cooperate with the agricultural interests of Canada in all great undertakings the objective of which is to strengthen the economic and industrial position of the Dominion among the nations of the world.

Toomuch

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms, such as heartburn, gas, heartburn, etc., will disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

Considering all it meant it was over in an incredibly few minutes, but during the entire time Gay did not look at Nick. She looked at Lincoln, not alone because his familiar visage steadied her, but because if she kept her eyes upon him she couldn't see Josiah K. Miller's beard.

Somewhat she found herself shaking hands with the owner of the beard, and nodding dazedly to the clerk and the stenographer. Somehow, with the help of Nick's firm hand, she got down the dark stairway, and into the blinding sunshine of the spring day.

Still she didn't meet Nick's eyes. The whole performance had been a nightmare—a hideous travesty of sacred things. She was hurt and quivering. She glanced down at the gold band on her fourth finger—wondered vaguely where Nick had got it, and realized at its sight that she was married—married without the touch of her husband's lips. The thought that she was married during the whole day had Nick been anything but brotherly, suddenly scorched her. Surely, had he loved her ever so little, he would have kissed her! And to let her be married in that dreadful place. . . .

Gay didn't know that her quick breathing was almost audible. She hardly knew that they were in the car again and had left the highway for a secluded street. She thought that the car had stopped, but she heard Nick say a little hoarsely: "Gay—darling—if I did know. . . ."

And just then a voice broke in upon them—a high shrill, old-man voice: "By gorry! if ain't Nick Haghtings!" They both started, to behold a little man in baggy trousers and a wide-brimmed hat. He was carrying a huge umbrella, and looked to Gay like a character from Dickens; but Nick beaming, stretched out a cordial hand. "Why, hello, Mr. Bartlett! Aren't you a good way from home?" "I be and I be!" was the enigmatic answer. "Truth is, I've moved since last you came. Couldn't stand the noise from that darn railroad; but no place is ever good to seem home to me but the house where I lived with my old woman. This your lady, Nick?"

Nick grinned, and turned to Gay with the familiar light in his blue eyes again.

"Nick, I want you to know Mr. Bartlett, a good friend of mine. This is my wife, Mr. Bartlett. I've been married since last you saw me. We—well, we're taking a little trip."

The old man lowered his umbrella and squinted up out of near-sighted eyes.

"Well, well! Pleasant time to be starting! Some like fall, but I say, give me spring, every time—spring—spring! Good-bye, Al! I shall be right. Where you ain't put up over night?"

"We haven't made any plans. That is, we—we started rather suddenly and—"

"I see, I see," interrupted Mr. Bartlett. "That's the way to do. That's the way we'd start out forty year ago, me and my old woman; only we went aboard an old white horse. Say, why not use my camp?"

Nick started a minute. "You mean that little hut on the hillside? The place I found when I brought over that mortgage for you to sign?"

"His voice was eager, and the old man beamed. "That it! Awful pretty place to stop. I was there yesterday—cleaned her up—had the fire—took up a lot of canned goods, that's what I'd be going to stay a day or so. May be a mile 'o' dust, but gorry! no does the Central House trip! I'd like to stay long as you want to, Nick, that is, if you'd wiled like it."

"You would, wouldn't you, Gay?" asked Nick eagerly. "It's the nicest little place you ever saw, with a glorious view of the White Mountains from the porch. Of course, if you'd be going to a hotel—well, he added doubtfully, but Gay, who had regained her composure during this conversation, reassured him.

"It sounds beautiful. I'd like it much better than a hotel, and—"

"Well, that settles it! Interrupted the old man quickly. "Now if you'll take my umbrella (I had a sunstroke once, ma'am, and never travel without it), I'll hang onto the rummikin' board and you can carry me back to the house—third from the corner, Nick, the white one, and I'll give you the key. No, ma'am, don't move, I like ridin' on the rummikin' board. Makes me feel like a boy. It's lucky I went out yesterday and aired her out. The bed's all made, ma'am, and they're extra blankets in the chest. I'll give you a jar 'o' milk and some eggs."

He continued to rant on, planning for them as happily as if they had been his children. It was, perhaps, the best thing that could have happened to them at that just moment. It brought them back to a sane and normal world, after that torturing error in the office of the Justice of the Peace. When they left, Mr. Bartlett waving a vigorous farewell from his front porch, they were themselves again.

"That old man does a lot of business with the bank," Nick explained when they turned a corner. "Rich as mud, he is, and quite a character. He's got a lot of land, a few potatoes, that have already been shipped from the northern city for distribution in the district."

hand that wore his ring, slipping it beneath his own upon the steering wheel; and the act brought Gay a sense of security and well-being.

But they were children again when they explored the cabin. Nick declared that it was even more delightful than he remembered it; and insisted, with an ardent glance that brought color to Gay's cheeks, that the little steam charr was due to present circumstance.

"It's perfect," she agreed.

They had finished their supper and stood together in the doorway, looking down through the pines that guarded their highway, at where green woodlands bordered off greener meadows—where quiet lakes gleamed dully in the twilight, and mountains, blue and majestic, were almost etched against the sky. The silence deepened. A star shone out—and then another. . . . Gay drew a tremulous breath.

"I feel like a bird in its nest," Nick's arm went round her shoulders, drawing her closer. "A bird in its nest," he echoed, "well—"

"He dropped the protesting arm, and facing her suddenly, "What have you thought of me all day? It came to me there in that abominable office, when—when you wouldn't look at me, that I hadn't behaved the way I should have. I suppose I was teasing myself a little. I didn't realize that I was teasing you."

Gay, and my mother's sometimes came us on a picnic, how it saved the choicest morsels for all? I think, dear, that was that quality in my make-up, which kept me from kissing you today when I was tempted. I thought: 'I'll wait. Our first kiss shall be part of our wedding ceremony.'"

"And of course I couldn't kiss you there! And when we got outside it was hard to speak. I was scared, honestly, scared of what you must be and, in spite of the fact that her health broke down a month before the end of her school year, she was assigned to her, 'everybody, nevertheless was satisfied that she received."

"Yes, if you call that miserable affair a wedding, I don't do. That's the way we'd start out forty year ago, me and my old woman; only we went aboard an old white horse. Say, why not use my camp?"

Nick started a minute. "You mean that little hut on the hillside? The place I found when I brought over that mortgage for you to sign?"

Holds Unusual Degree in Aeronautical Engineering

Canadian Girl is Master Of Science in Aeronautical Engineering

Miss Kline Gregory MacGill of Vancouver, can now write the letters M.S.E. after her name besides the more familiar B.A., and B.Sc., for she graduated not long ago from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, with the degree of master of science in aeronautical engineering.

When Miss MacGill entered the graduate school of Michigan, she already had the degree of bachelor of science from the University of British Columbia, and another degree in engineering from the University of Toronto.

Toronto fellow graduates will recall her as the only girl student at the school of aeronautical engineering, and when she graduated in engineering, a specially small iron ring had to be placed on her finger, as none of the regulations of that university allowed a woman to receive a degree in this emergency. It was Miss MacGill's intention to be an electrical engineer, but later this young British Columbian turned to aeronautics.

Professor Felix Pawlowski, who held the chair in aeronautical engineering in the University of Michigan, says that during her course at Ann Arbor, Miss MacGill displayed not only admirable qualities of character, but also "rather unusual" ability in her work.

Her work was of such high standing, and she was so generally appreciated by her professors, that in spite of the fact that her health broke down a month before the end of her scholastic year, she was assigned to her, "everybody, nevertheless was satisfied that she received."

Miss MacGill is particularly interested in design of aeroplanes, having already had a certain amount of experience in this direction which she acquired before going to Ann Arbor, and she is planning to continue this line of work with the aeronautical industries as soon as her health permits renewed activities.

The most interesting fact in connection with the brilliant Canadian girl is that she is the first woman on this continent to hold a degree in aeronautical engineering, and "very likely," says Professor Pawlowski, "the only one in the world at the present time." According to the professor, she is a very capable girl, and there are only two women with proper theoretical training in Europe in England and the other Poland—engaged in aero-dynamic research of rather mathematical character. These two women, however, have no degrees in aeronautical engineering.

Passengers Can Talk Direct To Europe Or America

Direct conversation by wireless telephony from passengers' bedrooms to Europe or to the North American continent whilst en route will be one of the principal features of the "Empress of Britain," gigantic Canadian liner to be completed June, 1931, according to W. H. Amable, assistant steamship passenger traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway.

It is expected that the 42,000-ton giants will occupy only five days on the regular Southampton-Quebec run, and is scheduled for a cruise of the world next year.

Thompson, of Birch Hill, Saskatchewan, continues to lead in the 11th Canadian Egg-Laying Contest at the Dominion Experimental Farm in Ottawa, with a score of 170.1 points. The pen lead is now 46.6 points ahead of the nearest competitor, with only a few points separating the second and third.

New Paving Material

City Of Calgary Experimenting With Bituminous Sands

An experiment with bituminous sands from the Fort McMurray district in Northern Alberta was being tried in the city of Calgary public works. It was stated recently by Commissioner A. G. Graves, following a visit from a representative of the company which is exploiting the sands.

About 30 tons had been ordered, he said, and some of it was already in use for crossings, sidewalks, and so forth. It had been found necessary to mix it with sand and gravel according to a formula decided upon by city chemists, but even with the added labor of mixing the product was very economical for the use to which it had been put. Commissioner Graves was not prepared to say anything just yet about the lasting qualities of the material, but said that it appeared to be giving satisfaction. Further experiments would have to be made before it was decided to extend the use of it to roads.

Riot Caused By Umbrellas

Indian Law Cases Carried Them For A Day

A job lot of western umbrellas and about caused a riot on the Lacadine coast, 150 miles off the Mohave coast. The Koyas, or aristocracy of the islands long ago decreed that they alone might go about and carry umbrellas but when the western shipment came in the Mahinis, or caste, and the Melchioris, who pick coconuts, decided to try dressing up. They picked 11 Melchioris and nine Mahinis to defy the law and it was a gala day for the strutting low castes until the Koyas' chief heard about it and ordered that his spearmen fight the mannequins found themselves in jail.

Isn't it foolish to suffer any needless pain? It may be only a simple headache, or it may be neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Asprin is still the sensible thing to take. There are hardly any case or pain these tablets can't relieve; they are a great comfort to women who suffer periodically; they are

DEPRESSION

"I'm a different woman"

"Two years ago I began to get depressed, and everything was too much trouble for me. I was misery to myself and everyone around me. I was advised to take Glaxo Tablets by my friends who said it was the same as Krumpholtz but I didn't know the good, so at last my husband got me a box of Krumpholtz. I don't know how to realize the different woman I am. I have been taking Krumpholtz now constantly for two years. My daughter also would not be without it. I have got my neighbors, take Krumpholtz as well as she has found its worth as she feels a different woman."

The commonest cause of depression is partial constipation—an insidious complaint because the sufferer is seldom aware of it. It removes the gradual accumulation of body poisons which dull the mind, damp the spirits, sap the nervous strength and lower the whole vitality.

Krumpholtz salts make constipation disappear. Therefore, if you keep to Krumpholtz you will never know the meaning of melancholy; never feel sorry for depressive shadow of the

Up-Keep Is Expensive

Costs More To Run New York City Than Canada

The 1931 budget of New York City will amount to a new high record of at least $632,400,000, a survey of New York's expenses, past, present and future, indicated.

This would amount to $67,680,272 more than the budget for the current year and would be a great increase in the history of any city anywhere.

The entire governmental expense for the Dominion of Canada in 1929 was about $281,400,000 in round figures below the city budget that is expected in 1931.

SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many of them for the moment but they are habit forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp the bowels and leave a depressed after effect.

Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lazy. A purely vegetable remedy like Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels more gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed, constipation points pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and strong, the system enjoys a real tonic effect. All druggists 25c and 75c retail prices.

Advertising Is Good Business

And Is Especially Necessary in Times Of Depression

It is a curious fact that the art of advertising at home is on as high a plane as in any country in the world—but manufacturers and merchants do not seem to have developed the faculty of showing the rest of the world how really good their products are. British traders are inclined, when bad times prevail, to reduce costs by cutting down advertising, a procedure which has been proved time and again to be against all the principles of good business.

As was mentioned in a recent article contributed to our columns by a local advertising specialist: "Among experienced advertisers today, it has become an established policy to redouble efforts in bad times, because of the actual results which have been derived in so many instances from the adoption of this policy."—Hong Kong Press.

PRETTYLY DRAPE

All Tingey models are created and sketched in Paris and the patterns are made in New York. Delightful draped effects mark many of the new bodice and skirt effects, giving almost Greek grace to the regular dresses.

The model illustrated for today's pattern has a new and charming collar. It forms a pretty drape on one side and is caught with a modern brooch or a button. A jeweled one if the material is rich and the wearer is a lady. The model could also cut charmingly in a faceted velvet of which some lovely new designs are to be seen.

To be in keeping with the bodice trim, the skirt drapes prettily on one side where the weight of the fullness of stuff just causes the merest fold. The belt is narrow and of self-stuff.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 14 to 20 and 24 to 42. Send 25c (in stamp or coin) to Fashion Bureau. Write carefully and plainly your name and full address, and number of the pattern and the size you want.

Should Check Up Unemployed

Some May Not Be Deserving of Government Relief

Unemployment figures in urban centres are augmented each winter through the migration of men who work steadily on farms in the summer and rather than accept a smaller wage in the winter months or perhaps merely comfortable labor they journeyed cityward in the hope of sharing in the jobs handed out by benevolent city councils. Urban municipalities should keep a close check on these migrants and refuse to increase the burden upon them by paying them for five months out of the year.

It will be grossly unfair to taxpayers everywhere if part of the million dollars appropriated by the Dominion Government and the thousands of dollars that are added to it by the provinces and municipalities is used to maintain the migratory class of laborers who have been offered winter employment and turns it down in order to share in the millions voted for unemployment relief.—Farmer's Advocate.

Advocate's Clothing Reform

College Professor Thinks Men Should Wear Dresses

Men should wear dresses, Prof. Albert Bachem, of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, advises. For health and comfort the ideal garment for men would be loose and flowing, without binding collar or belt, he told the American Physician Therapy Association recently.

"We men, under our garments," he said, "are practically always living in a tropical climate. Women's clothing is much more reasonable. There are two ways I would suggest to improve our clothing. Either it could be made more porous and consist possibly of one layer, or it could be worn very loosely."

Yukon Big Game

Yukon Territory, Canada is the paradise of big game hunters and no place on the North American continent today offers greater inducements both for the variety of big game and for the dimensions of the trophies to be secured. Mountain sheep, moose, goat, caribou, and bear are numerous. The moose are of the "giant" species and bears include black, brown and grizzly.

Manitoba Stone For Edmonton

The final shipment of Tyndall stone, from the Tyndall quarry in Manitoba, to Edmonton in connection with the $250,000 contract for the Alberta Provincial Buildings at Edmonton, has been made ahead of schedule.

Devotional Reading: Romans 14:13-21.

Explanations and Comments

Christian Freedom, verse 13.—"Brethren," wrote Paul to the Galatians, "you are free from the Law, but Christian freedom does not mean that you can do what you please. Liberty and license are not synonymous. Do not use your freedom as a license for indulging your lower impulses, but serve one another in love. 'Flesh' is used here for 'that element of man's nature which is opposed to goodness and makes for evil. It signifies the entire potency of sin.'"

The Christian Love, verses 14, 15.—Through loving service for others, you fulfil the whole divine law, which is, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Paul here quotes Leviticus 19:18, "then, recalling the fact that the Galatians were prone to quarrel, Paul said, 'If ye love and develop one another, ye will not offend one another in any matter.'"

Antagonistic Spirits, verses 16-18.—"The Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you," says Paul. "If the Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you, ye shall not obey the Spirit, for ye shall be destroyed one another." "The Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you," says Paul. "If the Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you, ye shall not obey the Spirit, for ye shall be destroyed one another." "The Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you," says Paul. "If the Spirit of the Lord dwelleth in you, ye shall not obey the Spirit, for ye shall be destroyed one another."

Less Crime In Britain

Several Prisons Are Closed For Lack Of Occupants

Crime in Great Britain has deteriorated so much that prisons are operating far below capacity, and several have actually closed for lack of occupants, states Dr. Higgins, medical officer of the prison in Liverpool, who arrived in New York recently. He attributed the decrease in crime to the system of swift justice, strict laws, requiring the closing of courts at certain hours, and the fact that a prisoner or a person fined for an offence is kept under close surveillance after his release or payment of the fine.

There was great excitement abroad the liner.

"Man overboard!" was the cry.

"Gentlemen overboard. If you please," said Mr. De Smoels. "That's my husband."

World production of sulphuric acid now is 25,550,000 tons a year.

Mr. Victor Bruce, British woman aviator, has started from Heston, Middlesex, air park, on a mystery flight in her single-seater biplane. The greatest secrecy surrounded her destination. There was still another report that said she was flying around the world and would be gone three years.

CONFERENCE AT LONDON STUDIES WHEAT QUESTION

London, England.—With the reply of the British Government to the preference proposals of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, expected soon, the heads of the Imperial conference settled down to consideration of wheat and other Empire foodstuffs.

The expedients of bulk purchase of wheat and of import boards were considered in a general way and the whole subject was referred to an economic committee, under the president of the board of trade, for consideration.

"It was not just a question of establishing import boards which would buy in the cheapest market, as for instance, purchasing Russian wheat," said one British official recently. "On the contrary, the angle from which the delegates are approaching the problem is how best inter-Empire trade may be improved."

The same economic committee, under the Rt. Hon. Mr. Graham, has been authorized to take steps towards bringing together the British and Dominion manufacturers for a conference.

In considering the wheat problem, and with a wealth of information at its command, the committee could not even make an estimate of effect on the off-hand question: "How much wheat remains in Russia?" Increase of the grain production is being sought by the great wheat-producing countries was reviewed.

The arbitration committee, under Hon. Maurice Dugre, a Canadian solicitor-general, studied proposed reservations in the general arbitration act prepared by Canada. Under the main reservation the British nations would not submit their inter-Empire disputes to an international court.

N. Z. Butter Exporters

Are Anxious To Know If New Duty Is In Effect

Vancouver, B.C.—Chances from New Zealand stated that butter exporters there are eager to know if the new rates on butter from that country to Canada have come into effect, due to the fact that information received from London indicated that the old duty would remain until negotiations between Premier Bennett and Premier Forbes, now in London, has proceeded further.

It was ascertained from the office of the collector of customs at Vancouver that the new rates of 8 cents preferential rate are not operative. "So far as we are concerned," stated an official, "the old rates expired on October 12, when the revision of the Australian trade agreements were rescinded, the new rates becoming immediately effective thereafter."

Armed Bandits Still Payroll

Winnipeg, Man.—Armed robbers held up the office staff of the Canadian Mailing Company, 141 Main Avenue, and escaped with the payroll, believed to be about $2,400. Two men entered the factory office a few minutes before the envelope were to be distributed to employees. Clerks in the office were herded into a large vault while the robbers escaped with the payroll.

Hold By Brigands

Pelplin, Poland.—Frank P. Lockhart, United States consul-general, states that Bert N. Nelson, United States missionary of the Lutheran United Mission Society of America, is held by brigands. His abductors belong to the so-called Red Army. They captured him on the Red of Kwangtung, southeast Hunan, and their forces on October 5. A large ransom has been demanded.

For a Federal Bank

Winnipeg, Man.—Reduced prices for farmers' necessities, cutting grain freight rates from 18 to 15 cents, and establishment of a federal bank which would make three per cent. loans to farmers were requested in resolutions passed by a meeting of 260 farmers at Valley River, Man. The resolutions have been forwarded to Dominion authorities.

Government Promises Help

English Shareholders Angry

Shareholders of Grand Trunk Stock Have Poor Opinion of Canadian Politicians

London, England.—In an angry mood, holders of preference shares in the old Canadian Grand Trunk Railway met again to receive the report of their representative R. C. Hawkin, on his recent visit to Canada. Finally they appointed a committee of three to interview President R. B. Bennett and present their claims.

Hawkin told the claimants that when France had altered a French loan contract, Chancellor Philip Snowden had protested strongly. But Canada had gone much further than France ever did, in altering the Grand Trunk contract made in London and causing the dilution of 100 per cent. of an investment. Surely this should come within the orbit of the Imperial conference, he said.

One stockholder spoke of a "damnable bad trick" and another said the expedition was not strong enough. "If there is no lower form of human life than the Canadian politician I do not know it," exclaimed R. C. Hawkin. "I know Canada, I have met politicians and farmers, and they are downright crooks. The only thing is to boycott goods."

Tells Of Slavery Conditions

Lady Simon Says Liberia Commission Report Will Reveal Abuses

London, England.—Lady Simon, wife of John Simon, recently arrived in London, has been asked to report the commission of inquiry into Liberia which said that natives had been shipped overseas from Africa. "Under conditions scarcely distinguishable from slave trading and slave raiding," she said.

Lady Simon, addressing the members of the Conservative Women's Reform Association, said that these and other abuses had been committed not only by private persons, but also by Liberia-American negro officials, including those in highest positions.

She contended that there developed upon the United States Government to promote the interests of British and French governments responsibility for coming to the aid of the Liberians, who have been the victims of the system under which abuses exist.

BENNETT SUBMITS PLAN FOR EMPIRE CO-OPERATION

London, England.—"If this opportunity for closer economic relations is not seized it may not come again," declared Prime Minister R. B. Bennett when he spoke by trans-Atlantic broadcast to the citizens of Canada and the Empire, in support of proposals which he placed, on behalf of the Dominion Government, before the Imperial Conference.

"I shall not refer to the reception of my proposal has received," said Mr. Bennett. "In the near future it will be either accepted or rejected. We can only await the decision. It will be a momentous one, for I believe and believe, I consider it my duty to say, that if this opportunity for closer economic relations is not seized it may not come again."

"This, I need not tell you," pursued Mr. Bennett, "is no lower form of human life than the Canadian politician I do not know it," he said. "I believe that the Empire must all have regard for the basic changes in the conditions of world trade and realize that in this age of great industrialization and fierce competition the old rules, which in their time were good rules, may very well be, if they are not changed, a sign-post of commercial disaster."

As all the peoples of the Empire just now had their troubles, Mr. Bennett believed it would be a part of wisdom "that we should come together and search out means by which we may be won for us all a new and greater prosperity."

The prime minister spoke of the common traditions and principles of justice and fair dealing which bound the British nations together. He spoke of the great resources of Canada and recorded the resolve "to use these wisely, so that the happiness and welfare of the Canadian people may forever endure."

Mr. Bennett noted the will to economic co-operation in the Empire and he thought the Imperial conference would bring forth a plan to promote the interests of British and French governments responsibility for coming to the aid of the Liberians, who have been the victims of the system under which abuses exist.

Mr. Bennett spoke of the wealth of Canada's resources. In its prairies, forests, mines, lakes and seas lay incalculable wealth. "It is our resolve also," Premier Bennett said, "to use it wisely, so that the happiness and welfare of the Canadian people may forever endure."

The problem was to determine what scheme of co-operation would be fair and lasting and of real account to all who joined in it. "Any agreement based on sentiment alone," he added, "cannot be a permanent one. If I ask this country to buy Canadian wheat, which we must and will sell in the highest and most stable market, and give you nothing but thanks in exchange for this service, you would soon tire of it. Similarly, if I ask you to give your produce for your goods in our market and get nothing but your acknowledgment of this preference in return, I fear it could not long continue.

"But if there is an agreement inspired by sentiment and buttressed by definite and lasting and mutual advantages, then it will not fail. It will be our common wish and for the benefit of each and all to support and sustain it. Under that agreement each of us will be working primarily and properly in the interest of our respective countries, and that is the only way in which we may continue to promote the prosperity of the Empire as a whole."

Mr. Bennett said that the Empire must all have regard for the basic changes in the conditions of world trade and realize that in this age of great industrialization and fierce competition the old rules, which in their time were good rules, may very well be, if they are not changed, a sign-post of commercial disaster. He said that the Empire must all have regard for the basic changes in the conditions of world trade and realize that in this age of great industrialization and fierce competition the old rules, which in their time were good rules, may very well be, if they are not changed, a sign-post of commercial disaster.

Hon. C. A. Dunning Appointed Vice-President Of Eastern Pleasure Resort

Montreal, Que.—Hon. C. A. Dunning, formerly minister of finance in the Dominion Government, has accepted the position of vice-president and general manager of "Lucerne-in-Quebec," a new all year pleasure resort and hotel on the Ottawa River, near Island of Ottawa and Montserrat. The appointment was announced by E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the organization.

The Lucerne-in-Quebec organization recently took over the old Papineau estate overlooking the Ottawa River, and a hotel on the log chateau plan, with numerous individual cottages, are being erected. Summer and winter sports will be among the attractions and the project aims toward the development of a year around residential resort on a club membership plan.

Seek More Cargo Space

Australian Flour Millers Facing Shortage Of Grain

Melbourne, Australia.—Flour millers of Victoria are facing a difficult problem in getting cargo space for their flour exports to Egypt and Europe. If there is no relief in the present situation it is likely they will charter the grain ships. General rationing of cargo space is in full swing with a shortage for cereals and flour. The reason for lack of space for these cargoes is that vessel owners are receiving plenty of cargoes paying a higher rate.

NEW TOWNSITE FOR CHURCHILL IS NOW POSSIBLE

Winnipeg, Man.—Settlement of the town of Churchill, Manitoba's seaport on Hudson Bay, will not be possible next spring as expected, according to a statement by Charles H. Attwood, secretary of the townsite committee. The townsite committee has created a serious engineering problem.

Location of the townsite may be altered, it is stated, and until the engineering difficulty has been obviated date for the site-opening cannot be set. Permanently frozen subsoil at the Bay port offers difficulties hitherto unencountered in municipal development, it is pointed out.

"The Dominion Government is busily engaged in building port facilities, railway terminals and, in fact, everything in the province the portion of Churchill townsite not required for the dock and railway facilities, agreed to fill with gravel and sand and the lower-lying flats between the railway and the higher escarpment to the east," said Mr. Attwood.

The Dominion has fulfilled its agreement and in that part of the townsite selected as the business centre has already deposited some 40,000 yards of gravel with the object of preparing a site suitable for the business section of the town. "During the summer plans for the townsite were prepared and recently the provincial government engineers have completed staking out the portion of the townsite, but in so doing they now report that water conditions are such that make the filled-in areas unsuitable as a townsite until such times as some methods or means are devised to provide proper drainage, through which there is no seepage."

"Until such time as further studies and investigations can be made to solve the problem peculiar to Churchill and to provide municipal utilities and services in the town, the townsite committee has decided that the public are best met by delaying the opening up of the townsite until these problems are solved."

IS OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE OF WORLD TRADE

London, England.—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Laborite Chancellor of the Exchequer and avowed free trader, expressed at a banquet a feeling of optimism about the future of world trade in general and British trade in particular.

Despite the heavy burden of unemployment, which he said, was costing the nation about $500,000,000 annually, he expressed a better conclusion for the financial year than had been predicted. He asked parliament to deal with the cost of unemployment by putting "the vast insurance fund upon an insurance basis."

Mr. Snowden addressed a banquet at which there were present the governor and the directors of the Bank of England and leading bankers and merchants of the city of London. "I look forward to the time, which I am quite confident will come, when not only the magnitude of the trade of this country but the magnitude of the trade of the world, will be of a volume which we are not able to consume today."

Deprecating the spirit of pessimism in Britain, the chancellor said that the world had not yet triumphed in the past over difficulties as great as those with which the country is faced today.

A hundred years ago things were quite as bad, or worse, as they are today. But things changed, and the country has emerged beyond measure from the dark period of property and the greatest advance in the history of this country.

"Times will change again. Undoubtedly we are now suffering less than some of the other great industries of the world. During the past six months we have maintained a larger proportion of our production than Germany or the United States."

The cost of unemployment to the nation, Mr. Snowden said, was disturbing the national budget measure. He estimated from various sources the cost of unemployment at £100,000,000 annually ($500,000,000), a necessary but at the same time unremunerative expenditure. "The exchequer expenditure has been raised, and I have to find this year £21,000,000 (about $105,000,000) in order to finance the large mass of unemployed persons who have no insurable qualifications."

"I think it is the duty of parliament to face this problem and to put the insurance fund upon an insurance basis."

Mr. Snowden said he intended to do everything in his power to avoid the imposition of additional taxes. He prophesied that the ending of the financial year would show that the budget had been generally believed.

Starting Branch Line Work

C.P.R. Plans Hundred Miles Of Construction In Saskatchewan

Winnipeg, Man.—Immediate work on one hundred miles of new rail construction in Saskatchewan was commenced by the Canadian Pacific Railway, in announcing award of four grading contracts which form a portion of the company's advanced construction programme referred to by President E. W. Beatty, K.C., while on his western tour recently.

Advancement of this and other construction work now in process of planning, has in mind the desirability of providing some relief to the agricultural industry by furnishing work for farmers and to draft animals and the absorption of as much surplus as possible of the surplus labor in the towns and cities.

All Italy Celebrates Anniversary Of Poet's Birth

Manila, Italy.—All Italy celebrated the 2,000th anniversary of the birth of the poet Virgil. His birthday was registered in the calendar as a Saint's Day and devotees worshipped at his tomb as at a shrine.
